This meeting will explore what is known about fatal child maltreatment risk factors and examine Colorado's strategies for preventing deaths from child abuse and neglect. To do so, Commissioners will hear from prominent researchers and state stakeholders on five topics:

1. What we have learned about risk factors for child abuse and neglect fatalities and what additional research is needed
2. How different social services assess the risk of fatal maltreatment in the families they serve
3. Colorado's multidisciplinary approaches to working with families before a fatality and conducting joint investigations of fatalities when they occur
4. Colorado's strategies for preventing child abuse and neglect fatalities before any maltreatment is known nor suspected
5. How the child welfare system in Colorado works to prevent child maltreatment fatalities once abuse or neglect has been suspected or determined
